TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Norway Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit

A truthful statement of a Norway citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills.

If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Norway citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

John F. Sampson, prop., painting estab. 174 Main street, Norway, says: "I was feeling run down and miserable for quite a long time. I was tired and nervous and my kidneys didn't act regularly. At times the secretions passed too frequently and then again they were scanty. My head ached night and day. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got three boxes at Stone's Drug Store. When I had finished taking them, the trouble left me and I have not been bothered since. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted likewise."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sampson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Nellie Woods- ford Speaks To Mothers

East Boston.—At 23 Lamson St., Mrs. Nellie Woodsford and her children now "live happy and grateful" to Dr. True's Elixir. Mrs.
Woodsford says: "My bowels were out of order and my breath was bad. I had terrible headaches and it seemed I had suffered years before your Dr. True's Elixir was brought to me. After a short time I was myself again, my bowels were all right and I'm full of gratitude." "It may interest you to know also that once since my youngest child was terribly sick and it was a serious case. We all have your Elixir to thank for relieving her of stomach
worms."

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller has done wonders for children and grown-ups since 1851. Pleasant to take,
mild in action.

For more than forty years Lydia E. ROMANCE OF THE TELEPHONE

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, in London, in an interview, said that looking around the telephone systems of the world it seemed like a dream to him that he was the man who had started the whole business.

I finished with the telephone over 25 years ago, he said, but it has been extremely interesting to watch its progress. I have been hearing of future developments at the meetings of the wireless section of the London Institute of Electrical Engineers. I heard a most interesting address by Prof. Eccles. I represent the past; Mr. Eccles represents the future. When I invented the telephone 45 years ago nobody realized the developments which would take place. In 1877 or 1878 the directors of the National Telephone Company, which had just been organized, asked me for my ideas as to the future of the telephone. I created a great smile by outlining the central exchange system which exists today. It seemed like a Utopian dream to those directors, and my letter, which was printed and sent to each director, has often been quoted to show the ambition of an inventor. Not a single copy of that letter was preserved, and when I asked the recipients of it what they had done with it the inevitable reply was: Well, I rather smiled at it and tore it up.

Asked what he thought of the British telephone system, Dr. Bell shrugged his shoulders and replied: "I do not want to say too much about it. I think you do very well, but you do not compare well with the United States, and I think recent history in the United States reveals the cause. We had the best system of telephony in the world before the war in the United States. Then we came into the war, the telephone was taken out of the hands of private companies and run by the government. Immediately the efficiency of the service fell. Now the control has been returned to the companies, and I hope the efficiency will improve. The decrease in efficiency in consequence of government ownership is found elsewhere. I visited Australia some years ago, and the telephone system, which was in the hands of the government, could not be compared to ours in America. I am afraid that the comparatively low state of efficiency in England as compared with our system in the United States must be attributed to government ownership. Government ownership aims at cheapness, and cheapness does not necessarily mean efficiency.

"The experience in the United States, now that the control has been returned to private companies, will form a good test of the value of private ownership. In America there is hardly a house without the telephone, but in Scotland a few days ago, looking through the telephone lists in large cities, I was struck by the small number of private individuals with telephones. The telephone certainly has not gone into the homes of Great Britain as it has in the United States, where they do not mind paying for a good service, but certainly object to pay a big price for a poor service."

Speaking of the invention of the telephone, Dr. Bell said his whole life had been devoted to the subject of speech and speech mechanism. His father had been a professor of elocution, and his grandfather before him. Mechanism of speech was a sort of family affair, and as a boy he felt it his duty to learn everything which bore upon what was to be his professional work, the correction of defects of speech. When he was quite young he started as a pupil-teacher at Elgin, in Scotland, and when he was 16 or 17 years of age he made the discovery, which he thought was original, that the resonance of the mouth cavity varied in making different vowel sounds. He afterwards found that this had been discovered long before by Helmholtz, the German physicist, who had obtained vowel sounds by tuning forks to different pitches. He could not read German, and knew nothing about electricity, and he got the false idea that Helmholtz had been able to transmit vowel sounds by electricity. Believing that, he saw no reason why speech should not also be transmitted, and, having that false idea, he set to work to see whether he could not do so. In considering an invention, the attitude of the man toward his subject was important, and that false idea had undoubtedly helped him to produce the result at which he aimed.

After coming to America he tried, by means of tuning forks, to secure vibrations which would reproduce Helmholtz's results, and this led him to the invention of multiple telegraphy, by which a number of messages could be sent along the same wire by tuning them to different pitches. That invention had since been adopted by the wireless telephone, and offered the means by which privacy could be insured for wireless conversations.

At the same time he was carrying on investigations on entirely different lines to try and find some means of teaching deaf mutes to speak. (Today, in the United States, 75 per cent of the deaf children were taught to speak, but he had found in Scotland there was still a great deal of finger talk.) When he went to America he believed in the possibility of teaching deaf children to speak. There were others who believed that if they were taught to speak they could also be taught to read the lips. He had not agreed with them, and in that he had been wrong. He had aimed at securing by scientific instruments something which would show the effect of the vibrations caused by speech, from which the deaf could be taught to secure the same vibrations and thus learn to speak. One instrument which he had in mind was König's flame apparatus, which consisted of a cavity in a piece of wood, over which a membrane was stretched, a speaking tube led into one side of the stretched membrane, and on the other side was gas, with a little burner and a little flame. The vibrations of the voice were transmitted through the membrane to the gas, and the flame moved up and down. The reflection of the flame in a series of mirrors gave different effects and produced in some cases a beautiful complicated pattern, like a piece of lace in a blue flame. He also experimented with a somewhat similar device, a phonograph, which he found could be greatly improved by modeling it on the human ear; by speaking into this tracings of speech vibration were obtained upon smoked glass. Upon the suggestion of a distinguished Boston aurist an actual human ear was used.

He thus had two separate lines of research, one electrical research for the transmission of a number of musical tones by multiple telegraphy, and the other for the benefit of the deaf, the study of the form of vibrations produced by speech. While staying at Brantford in Ontario during a holiday, he reached the conception of what is now known as the undulatory current of electricity. Putting to-

NORWAY AND VICINITY MY DAYS AND NIGHTS IN THE HOSPITAL

No. 11
When I felt, after going to the hospital, that it was very uncertain whether I should ever see home again, I thought of making a disposition of some of my effects and chief of these was my library of books. Mrs. Whitman and I had made about a dozen scrap books, two of which were of my own writings. They were not filled with cheap stuff, but with matter of local and general history value. I had taken much pains and labor in the research for facts and dates and great pride in their collection. Feeling that sometime, unless scattered and wasted, they would be prized. These scrap books are but a very small fraction of all the books I have. They are of standard authority. There is scarcely a subject of interest about events or persons that I cannot find some mention of in these volumes. Many have copious marginal notes in pencil. Properly indexed, they would be invaluable for the student of local or general history. I may here state that interest in such matters has greatly increased and will continue in the years to come.

My first impulse was that my books should be placed ultimately in the Norway Public Library and kept for reference in my name. I was moved to this from the fact that I started the movement to establish it as the files will show and solicited subscriptions and raised the first $150 with which to buy books, and on the formation of the library association was chosen secretary. It was then of course a private institution. Naturally I would now have an interest in seeing it flourish, and built up, by having beside circulating books works of standard authority for reference. No public library can be said to amount to much unless it has such works. So far as I knew, nothing was being done to build up the institution, by gradually supplying this need. Many times have I gone to the Lewiston Public Library and the Maine Historical Society for things which should have been found in our own public library. I determined, after considering the matter carefully, to make no disposition of my books, except that they should be kept together and left for future disposal.

It seems to me that an institution for which we are taxed to support, and obtain some benefit from, and are more or less proud of, should be the object of special and general interest and suggestions and contributions looking towards its betterment might receive consideration. Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., was a great writer of stories in his day. They built up the N. Y. Ledger. His stories should be in the Norway Public Library, not for circulation as they would be soon worn out, but for reference. Dr. C. A. Stephens' works should also be in it to be kept in the same way, and the writings of Don C. Seitz. I presume a duplicate of the files of the Norway Advertiser have been placed in the library by Mr. Fred W. Sanborn. Old files of the local papers printed years ago, the collection of photographs of Norway people, and everything in fact, relating to Norway and Norway people, which is in existence should be put in the library for preservation. It would require some activity and enterprise to obtain them, and an interest in building up the institution. By and by the library would require larger quarters and some rich son or daughter might have pride enough to give a sufficient sum to build a pretty little building for it, like the ones at Buckfield Village and Bryant Pond. It may be said that this is not likely. I think differently. I am not sure what I myself might do under some circumstances. A man like Don C. Seitz, for instance, who owns a fine timber lot in Norway Village on which he annually pays a big tax, but derives no income from, and won't cut the big pine trees on it because it would hurt the looks of the village, as I understand, must have some pride in the place where he lived as a boy. I presume he likes to be appreciated, I should. The late Dr. Albert Thompson, who I don't know much for Norway had been appreciated, and there are others.

It's a great detriment to a place to have a lot of narrow contracted and short sighted people in it. Stolid incompetencies, jealousies, and enviousness are worse than having to go to a hospital.

The Lure of BIRTH STONES

JUNE

To have been born in June is to wear the pearl as a birthstone. A necklace of pearls is accredited with magnetism of drawing to one as many friends as there are stones in the necklace. In the Arabian Nights Prince Peria gave his sister Periade a necklace of pearls that are like unto moons chained with rays of silver. To her he said, "So long as the pearls move on the chain, all is well; if they stick, I shall be in dire need of thee."

CHAUTAUQUA SYSTEM CREATES DEPARTMENT FOR TOWNS' SERVICE

Community Chautauquas Come to Front With New Plans.

The Community Chautauqua System, which has its headquarters on Church and Grove streets, New Haven, Conn., has recently established a Department of Community Service for all its circuit towns. In speaking of this new branch, a Community representative said: "It has long been a desire on the part of Community Chautauquas to create this service department. We have never been able to do so until this year, due to the fact that most of our time has been spent on the building and producing of our big summer programs. The establishment of this department of Community Service is the natural and logical result of our policy for all-year-round service to our towns. Through it we expect to co-operate with you in your various projects for community welfare. We are able to give information, plans and service on any community subject."

Wide Range for Service

From the New Haven Chautauqua headquarters comes the information that this new department is especially equipped to give prompt and helpful counsel on the following subjects:

Community Buildings and Neighborhood Houses.

—their purpose and use
—their construction and equipment
—their operation and maintenance
—their program and management.

A splendid book of floor plans for community buildings has been prepared for Community Chautauquas, Inc., by Guy Lowell, the New York and Boston architect. This book contains elevations and floor plans for twelve buildings of various designs and sizes, all practical and economical as well as attractive.

Public Recreation—Outdoor and Indoor.

Boys' Clubs
Dramatics
Winter Sports
Town Planning
Roadside and Street Planting
Public Health Work (such as anti-mosquito campaigns, etc.)
Social Surveys
School Garden Contests
Americanization of Immigrants
Motion Pictures for other than commercial purposes.

No Charge for Service

There is to be no charge for this service. The Community Chautauqua System urges everyone to write to the Service Department concerning local community problems that are constantly arising to perplex. The system emphasizes the fact that they are willing to help solve these problems and that you incur no expense nor obligation in writing for their service.

Let us keep this department in mind and when we are in need of help call it to assist. Anything that is created for welfare of communities should have our enthusiastic support, and we, in turn, should make use of its facilities.

HARRISON

Elbridge E. Newcomb

Passed to the higher life on May 31. Elbridge E. Newcomb, after a long illness, age 50 yrs., 10 mos.

The deceased was born in Harrison, July 31, 1870, was one of a large family of children and had lived most of his life in that town and Waterford. A kind and loving husband and father has gone to his reward.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, Mrs. Nellie B. Newcomb, a son, Walter B. Newcomb, a daughter, Dorothy, also three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Annie Morey of Otisfield, Mrs. Elvira Bean of Portland, Mrs. Dorra Davis of Harrison and Nathan Newcomb of New Durham, N. H. and other relatives.

Oxford has climbed to seventh place in the list of Maine counties in enrollment of boys' and girls' agricultural clubs. It is ahead of its record of the corresponding date last year, as is the case with seven other counties. Cumberland, Piscataquis and Washington have more members than their entire enrollment last year. Cumberland was leading the van by only four over Penobscot when the figures were compared, Monday. The other counties were following in this relative order, their total enrollment being 2199: Hancock, York, Washington, Somerset, Oxford, Kennebec, Androscoggin and Sagadahoc, Franklin, Waldo, Piscataquis, Arden, Knox and Lincoln. The enrollment will end June 30, before which date it is expected that the total membership of last year will have been surpassed.

An Announcement by The Studebaker Corporation of America

Eight months ago, when the costs of material and labor appeared to have reached their peak, we made substantial reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars. These reductions were in anticipation of our ability, after the turn of the year, to purchase materials and fabricate them at lower costs.

The expected savings have been realized.

With them, other savings have been made, as a result of the greatly increased volume which Studebaker has this year enjoyed.

During the first five months of 1921, our volume of business has exceeded that of any other automobile manufacturer except Ford.

The Studebaker plants are running at capacity with unfilled orders on hand for over 7,000 cars.

In this quarter we shall produce 21,000 automobiles against 11,000 in the corresponding period of last year. This is an increase of approximately 100 per cent.

No other automobile manufacturer is making a comparable showing.

We believe that the confidence of the buying public, which has made and is making this record possible, will continue, because it is supported by the quality and value of our products, and these we shall uphold.

We expect that as a consequence the present economical and efficient production basis can be maintained and that we are justified in making further reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars.

FELT LIKE AN IRON BAND AROUND HEAD

Mrs. Osborne Says She Shudders When She Thinks How She Suffered

"For years," said Mrs. V. B. Osborne, of 118 Lancaster Ave., Lexington, Ky., "I have been in a run-down condition; nervous, weak and dizzy. I was actually so nervous that any sudden noise or excitement would produce a palpitation of my heart that frightened me. I absolutely could not climb stairs, for to attempt such would thoroughly exhaust me."

"I had nervous headaches and when they came on it seemed that an iron band was drawn tight around my head. I now shudder when I think of those headaches. My stomach was weak and I could not digest the lightest liquid food. Any food of a solid nature caused nausea and the sickening sensation remained for hours."

"My misery was almost unbearable. My sleep was never sound and I was worn out all the time. My condition was indeed a very deplorable one. I finally sought treatment in Cincinnati but nothing helped me one particle. I was on the verge of giving up in despair when a neighbor pleaded with me to try Tanlac. I obtained a bottle of the medicine and began its use."

"I began improving at once and soon felt my nervousness and dizziness disappearing. Then my headaches left me and I realized my strength had returned. My appetite and digestion improved and I am now so much better in every way. This Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and the only one that ever really helped me. I hope every poor woman who is suffering as I did will try it."

Why Pick On Your SHOE DEALER

It is a well known fact that tanners and most shoe manufacturers have taken enormous losses. One tanner alone lost $6,000,000.00 last year. Shoe retailers all over the country are marking down their shoes to replacement cost. Nevertheless, the woods are full of amateur economists WHO CLAIM PRICES OF SHOES WILL SHORTLY RETURN TO PRE-WAR LEVELS, BUT WILL THEY? YES, THEY SURE WILL:—

When hard coal is back at $9 per ton;
When railroad fares are back at 2c per mile;

For the love of Mike, why expect the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer of shoes to go the route alone? Aren't we Americans all in on this proposition together? Haven't we got to work it out together? Well, then, haven't the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of shoes gone much faster and much farther than the average in reducing prices and making readjustments? WE'LL SAY THEY HAVE. We're ahead—way ahead of the procession. Now let the barbers and the movie houses, and the Standard Oil, and the soft drink parlors, and the landlords, and the hotels and restaurants, and the draymen, and the bankers cut THEIR prices and catch up with the shoe men.
